Bad Weather Puts Off Key Parade Again

Event Rescheduled For Saturday

For the second year in a row, weather has played havoc with Key Float Parade plans. Early morning rain, and later on wind, caused Howard Hahn, Key editor, to postpone the parade until next Saturday at 2:30 p.m.

Fearing floats would not hold up under the strong wind, Hahn and Russell Baird, adviser, postponed the event. The date was changed to Saturday so that in event of another bad day, there still would be Sunday to fall back on.

The new time conflicted with the previously planned Powder Bowl touch football game between the Alpha Xi Deltas and Delta Gammas which will now be held Friday afternoon at 4 p.m. on the Lab School practice field. The game, an annual affair, is held in conjunction with the all-campus Charity Drive.

Voting for Key Queen also had to be postponed due to the change in the parade date. The election for the first beauty queen of the year will be held next week. The all-campus election is merely to select finalists. The actual beauty will be chosen by a group off campus. No campaigning other than the floats next Saturday is permitted.

Confusion reigned in women's dormitories all day Sunday due to conflicting stories circulating concerning the time of the parade. Several petitions were attempted by individual groups, but none received the affirmative vote of all groups necessary for an okay by Key officials.

A few women's organizations may be forced to drop from the parade due to the extra expense involved in renting wagons for two days.

The pre-campaign surprise mentioned by Nancy Gruner, Charity Drive co-chairman, in last Friday's News, was to have been a float constructed by the drive committee. Since the Charity Drive will be completed by Saturday, other plans are being made for use of this float.

AFROTC Cadet Officers To Be Announced Nov. 1

Nov. 1 will be a big day for men enrolled in the Air Force Reserve Officer's Training Corps. On that day, the final selection of cadet officers will be announced.

Until then, said AFROTC authorities, the cadets will undergo a 15-hour drill period during which they will be tested in various positions. Final selection will be based on leadership, initiative, military bearing, appearance, academic and AFROTC grades.

Each of the 35 third-year men will receive a commission. From the first-and second-year men, 72 will be selected as non-commissioned officers. Appointments will be held by the cadets until the end of the school year.

The entire unit must participate in three common hour drills during the first semester. One was held Oct. 5 and two more are scheduled for Oct. 12 and 14. The unit will assemble at noon on the field east of Fraternity Row.

The entire unit is enrolled in the administration and logistics course. A flight course was originally offered but was abandoned because of a lack of applicants.

Make Use Of Opportunity

How many of you, as students professing an interest in active and responsible student government, filled out and returned the questionnaire recently circulated by the Senate committee on social and extra-curricular activities? We hope that most of you did, because the results of that poll will be very influential in determining the number and frequency of extra-curricular and social events scheduled at Bowling Green.

Most of you know that the problem of allocating time, money, and effort to the best advantage has become increasingly apparent here at the University, but what some of you may not know is that the administration and faculty will take action if the students fail to come up with a solution.

When the Senate committee goes before the Council on Student Affairs tomorrow with the results of the poll, they want to feel that they can present a true cross-section of student opinion. For the benefit of those who didn't fill out the questionnaire, the committee will be in the Student Senate office in the Rec Hall all today and late tonight. Perhaps you think the social calendar is overcrowded, or perhaps you don't, but whatever your opinion, we urge you to contact the Senate committee if you haven't already done so.

The importance of student participation in the solving of this problem cannot be overestimated. An invitation to join in the work has been extended to the students by the administration, giving students a voice in the making of some very important decisions. Take advantage of the opportunity. The News does not want to support any point; we just want you as students to express your opinion.

Homecoming Plans Show Full Slate Of Half Ceremonies

Plans for Homecoming weekend, Nov. 2, 3, and 4, are being formulated by Dr. Walter A. Zaugg, professor of education.

Events include the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, the awarding of trophies for the most outstanding men's and women's house decorations, the award of a painted pig to the winner of the Homecoming game, which is initiated by the journalism department.

Commencing the weekend events is a dance in the Women's Gym, sponsored by Panhell and Interfraternity councils. Idora Jones and Delmar Morgan, co-chairmen of the dance, said it will be an orchestra affair, similar to last year's dance.

Concluding the weekend events is an orchestra dance in the Men's Gym, sponsored by WIS and MIS. Co-chairmen of the dance are Lois Conrad and James McRobert.

The programs for the weekend are under the supervision of Laura Heston of the home economics department.

Although there is no obligation to buy pictures, Blosser will take orders from juniors who desire portraits.

Talk, Movies Get Charity Drive Started

Posters Up, 'Ugly' Pictures Prepared

"Kick-Off" program Sunday night officially opened Charity Week. Leon Marion, active in the Special World Service Fund, spoke at the two meetings which constituted the opening of Charity Week.

At the first meeting, which was held in the Ad Bldg., Mr. Marion spoke on the needs of students throughout the world. He stressed the point that we are sharing and not just giving. He also stressed the point that students all over the world are in need of food and clothing and we who are in the position to help them should do our best.

Movies were shown in the auditorium in connection with the Charity Drive. Two movies were shown at the beginning of the program, and a movie entitled "Hungry Minds" was shown following Mr. Marion's address.

Following the program a brief organization meeting and social hour was held for all house representatives.

The Charity Drive funds will help such organizations as the Ohio Heart Association, Infantile Para-

Nancy Gruner,
Bowling Green, Ohio.

In the absence of the vice-president from Washington, I have taken the liberty of opening a letter to him. I know if he were here he would send you his very best wishes for the success of your all-campus Charity Drive. May I pinch-hit for him and send you every good wish for the fulfillment of your goal in this worthy endeavor.

Mrs. Alben Barkley

lysis, Cancer Fund, and the Wood County Crippled Children's Association. In addition $400 will be used to help pay the expenses of a displaced person on campus.

This is the only drive that will be conducted on the campus this year. Instead of asking students for money at various times throughout the year, the drive has all been compiled into this one large event.

Two dollars per student has been set as the goal.

Charity Week is a week of events that will be climaxed Friday evening by a variety show. The show will be made up of acts by sorority and fraternity groups combined.

The annual Powder Bowl football game between Alpha Xi Delta and Delta Gamma sororities, also a part of Charity Week, has been moved up from Saturday afternoon to Friday afternoon because of the postponement of the Key Parade. Delta Gamma was the winner in last year's game.

Also scheduled as a part of Charity Week are the Ugly Man and Ugly Woman contests. Pictures of the candidates will be in the Well this week. In front of each picture will be a box. The winner will be determined by the amount of money in each box.

This is Bowling Green's second annual all-campus charity drive.

Eyas Copy Wanted

Contributions for this year's first issue of Eyas, student literary magazine, must be turned in at the English Bldg. by Nov. 1, according to editor, Al Iandolo.

In Our Opinion

How Strict Can You Be?

Many students who start out for a pleasant inexpensive evening at the campus movie are discovering that their time will be enhanced by a nice long walk. Hikes are fine, but by the time a couple has gone over the same plot of ground for the third time in order to go back to the dorm for a forgotten Ac card, the scenery gets a little boring.

Couples can't get in even though the male member has his "pleasure passport" stashed away in his wallet, if his date has forgotten her identification while carrying out the local tradition of not taking a billfold or purse on a two-some.

The rule, of course, is for a good purpose; to bar non-University people from free entertainment. However it seems a little silly to refuse admittance to those having some type of identification such as, for instance, a sorority pin.

The pin, and admitted, the person could have been imported from another school, but even a guest needs only a permit issued in the office of the dean of women before noon Saturday. Evidently, the authorities have no objection to guests.

Granted, those completely unconnected with Bowling Green should be refused admission. But, so long as one can prove by means other than an activity card or is guest of a student bearing his identification, there seems no logical reason for such strict observance of the show-Ac-card stipulation.

Behind the rule is a good purpose, but those carrying it out seem to be more interested in the black and white regulation than the motive behind the whole thing.

Official Announcement

All draft-eligible men who have not filled out requested form 109, to be mailed to local draft boards, should stop at the Office of Admissions, and complete the necessary form.

Dr. Ralph W. McDonald, University president, has a busy month scheduled with six speaking dates planned in October in six different cities.

Elmore, Ohio, was the scene of a Kiwanis convention for 10 northwestern clubs and Dr. McDonald's first speech last Thursday.

On Oct. 9, he will speak at the Hotel Biltmore in Dayton for the regional meeting of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis before workers from Indiana, Kentucky, and Ohio. President McDonald was North Carolina chairman of the March of Dimes for seven years.

His next engagement is at the Baldwin - Wallace Founders Day convocation in Berea, Oct. 19.

The general session of the Northeastern Indiana Teachers Association will hear his address on Oct. 26.

Letters To The Editor

To The Editor:

Friday night the University had the best pep rally it has had in years. What happened to the cheerleaders Saturday? It seemed the spectators led what cheering there was and the cheerleaders followed. If Bowling Green wants spirit, how about a little more pep in the leaders.

Placements Office Receives Inquiries

Inquiries from two industries concerning the number of graduates available in February have been received by the Bureau of Appointments.

Requests for accountants from Proctor and Gamble and chemists and bacteriologists or related fields from Merck and Co. state that if sufficient interest is shown in such jobs, representatives of each company will come to the University to interview students.

Other firms interested in personnel are DuPont, chemists and physicists; U. S. Gypsum, sales work; the Kresge Co., and Temco.

Those interested in such employment should contact Mr. Geer in the Bureau of Appointments, 200 Ad Bldg.

Beatty Announces 840 Auto Permits Granted To University Students

Car permits granted to University students number 840 this year, F. E. Beatty, director of services, announced this week.

Decals were issued for 116 frozen permits, 12 frozen mobile permits, 314 faculty and employee permits, 289 commuters, married, and local, and 107 free permits.

How do Bowling Green students feel about the recent West Point cheating scandal? Was the expulsion of the accused cadets justifiable? Would they favor an honor system at Bowling Green?

Student reactions to these queries varied greatly.

Many contended that violation of the honor code which dominates the military academy constituted sufficient grounds for expulsion. However an almost equal number held that the punishment was too severe but agreed that some action should have been taken against the cribbers.

One student saw in the action a move to de-emphasize athletics at the military academy. Another thought it unfortunate that a few should bear the consequences of actions said to be widespread and longstanding. Still another argued that the honor system should be discarded at West Point.

However, unanimity almost prevailed (one die-hard dissenting) regarding possibilities of an honor system at Bowling Green. The great majority held that it would be unworkable.

As one student explained it, the honor system stems from tradition. To become a tradition it must have its inception with the institution and be adhered to through the years.

Therefore, he concluded, establishment of an honor system at Bowling Green is theoretically impossible.

Navy Commissions Offered Graduates

Students who will finish their college work in February are now eligible for direct commissions in the navy.

Appointments now are being taken in Mr. Geer's office, 200 Ad. Bldg., for interviews to be conducted by Lt. W. H. Tedman soon.

Previously such commissions were limited to students in the College of Business Administration or those studying engineering. The navy is now taking those with four years of college no matter what major field.

Qualification tests will also be given on the day of the interviews.

Controversial Film Fails To Arouse Anti-Sorority Sentiment, Poll Shows

Hollywood fell flat on its face in trying to rouse public sentiment against the college fraternity-sorority elements with the Greek-blasting film, "Take Care of My Little Girl," according to an informal poll by the Associated Collegiate Press.

A recent series of informal interviews taken by the ACP in Minneapolis, Minn., seems to indicate that most of the audiences were not moved one way or the other in their attitudes toward Greek-letter organizations.

The majority of the movie-goers interviewed, except for two elderly ladies, said they felt the movie had distorted the sorority picture. Commented one man, "It seemed awfully silly. How do they get anyone to join if it's that bad?"

Other opinions: "It was one-sided... college kids aren't that foolish... sororities aren't that bad... an elderly lady declared sororities ought to be eliminated... there's too much heartbreak."

All collegians interviewed agreed the movie was unfair to the Greeks. "It wasn't typical of sororities at all," commented one.

When asked if the movie had changed their attitudes, one sorority girl replied, "Well I don't think I'll turn in my pin, if that's what you want to know."

But a college senior, who admitted he was anti-Greek, remarked, "No, I'm still convinced the fraternity-sorority arrangement is a good deal, it keeps those screwballs in one section of the campus."

From the standpoint of mere entertainment, the movie seems to have fallen short. Fewer than half of those polled would recommend the movie to their friends.

One middle-aged man said he wouldn't have attended it himself but his house was being painted and he wanted to get away from the smell.

If these interviews are to be taken as typical of popular reaction, it can be concluded that "Take Care of My Little Girl" was vastly overrated by both Greek and anti-Greeks in its powers of persuasion.

As for the college students who saw the film, their dominant view might be summed up by one of them who mumbled at the close of the picture, "Just more Hollywood hogwash."

Dick Pont picks up yardage during Mt. Union game...

Mt. Union Hands BG Second Loss, 26-13

By BILL GREENHILL

Bowling Green fumbled and held their way to a 26-13 defeat at the hands of the Purple Raiders of Mt. Union College last Saturday before an estimated crowd of 3,500.

The Falcons were leading at the halfway mark but the Raiders scored in each of the last two periods to win. The score should have been at least 20-12 at the half but a holding penalty nullified a scoring play by Rex Simonds who hit John Ladd with a pass that was good for 40 yards.

About midway in the last quarter the Falcons drove all the way down to the Mt. Union 21-yard line and Fred Durig scored on an end sweep which should have tied up the score at 19-19. But another holding penalty was called against B-G, nullifying the tally, and the ball was moved back to the Mount Union 36-yard line. On the next play Simonds was caught back on his own 45. Dick Pont made a yard and then the Falcons punted to the Mt. Union 25.

The Raiders drove up to mid-field and then the B-G defense held and Mt. Union punted to the B-G 18-yard line. Larry Schreck took the ball, ran a few yards and then fumbled. Mt. Union recovered and went on to score the last touchdown on a pass from Dick Byrnes to Dick Greenfield.

Bowling Green took the kickoff and drove into Mt. Union territory but the time ran out.

Durig scored the first touchdown for B-G in the initial period on a 16-yard run. This score was set up by an interference penalty being called against the Raiders on a Simonds to Ladd pass. This put the ball on the MU 15. Durig ploughed to the 5, but a penalty put B-G back on the 20.

Mt. Union retaliated very quickly. After Bowling Green kicked off the Raiders scored in 13 plays with Joe Valadini scoring. Passes from Byrnes to Pat Mancuso gave Union plenty of yardage in their 65-yard drive.

The second B-G score came after Mt. Union kicked off after tying the score at 6 up. Glenn Smalley returned the kickoff 25 yards to the B-G 45. Durig went 20 yards to the Raiders' 34 and after he, Pont, Smalley and Simonds worked the ball down to the 8, Gene Aldridge snagged Simond's pass in the end zone.

The Purple Raiders came right back to score again with Mancuso taking Byrnes's pass on the 18 and scooting the rest of the way for the score making it 13-12 in favor of Bowling Green. Mt. Union's try for point-after-touchdown was no good and that's the way the score was at the breathing point.

The third Raider TD came midway in the third quarter when two Byrnes to Mancuso passes, sandwiched around a two-yard plunge by Valadini, were good for 55 yards and a score.

Intramural Football Roundup

By JERRY ENRIGHT

The intramural program, so far this year, has been high lighted by the gridders. In the senior fraternity loop, Alpha Tau Omega's team won an extra period game from the Delta Tau Deltas. Using an old rule to their advantage, the ATO's gained 25 yards to the DTD's 18, to win an overtime game, which had ended in a 13-13 tie.

Other games played in the senior fraternity loop showed that whoever wins the senior fraternity loop will have to beat some good teams. Sigma Chi showed that it still has plenty of power left from last year by crushing Phi Kappa Tau 46-13. Kappa Sigma's team downed Alpha Sigma Phi 45-0 in a one-sided battle.

In the junior fraternity loop, Theta Xi's game with Pi Kappa Alpha took the high light. Pi Kappa Alpha's team won an overtime game which had ended in a 0-0 tie. The junior fraternity loop is made up of four teams which did not have their entries in early enough for the senior loop. The junior loop plays on Thursdays, while the senior loop plays on Mondays and Wednesdays.

Eleven fraternity tennis teams will start pounding the courts this week. Golfers from seven fraternities will also start to haunt the greens this week. The golf and tennis matches will be played on Tuesdays and Thursdays so that they will not interfere with the gridders who are interested in golf and tennis.

The independents also started their touch season last week. MIS and SIM fought to a 6-6 tie. In their overtime period, SIM used its passing attack to run up more yardage than their big brothers, MIS. Clowns, a traditional team in the independent loop, did not have a chance to show their power when the Shieks failed to show up.

The future of the independents tennis and golf programs is doubtful. Only one team signed up for the tennis competition. As for the golf teams, there aren't any. Matthews, intramural director, stated last week that if no more teams sign up in the near future, the plans for the independent's tennis and golf programs will have to be dropped.

According to unofficial statistics, intramurals have fallen off this year. Last year there were 40 teams playing touch football. This year there are only 25 teams participating.

Blond, Brunet, Or Tintair? Dyes Are New Fashion

BY ANN SUHR

We will all dye sometime, say the hair tint, dye, and rinse manufacturers. And, according to research in the sales departments of local drugstores, they are very nearly right. Sales of hair dyeing, tinting, and rinsing compounds is increasing by leaps and bounds.

Various explanations were offered for this fad becoming a custom: new dyes are inexpensive, television offers a fascinating advertising medium, new Tintair dyes the hair more evenly than older products, and wouldn't I like to be a redhead?

As a matter of fact, some rather interesting data was brought to light in this survey, to wit: (1) Most dyes bought tend to be in darker colors, indicating gray-haired people don't like grey hair, blond-haired people despise blond hair, light dyes have little effect on dark hair unless it is bleached white first.

Secondly, people buy more rinses than real dyes, which is also of social significance, indicating that capricious personalities use the stuff and these individuals never know what they want to look like next week.

Thirdly, in spite of the current lack of prejudice against the gal who has "done something" to her hair, hair dye is still sold in whisperers like bootleg liquor.

It all boils down to this. The chances are that your roommate with the gorgeous chestnut mane is either a gray-haired hag in disguise or a natural honey-blond. In fact, blond hair is the only kind you can trust, since dark hair can't be dyed that way. And that blond going down the street? Oh, she's peroxide!
